The government has no business telling me what is in my "best interest" with respect to my 401k. I am more than capable of doing it myself as are the vast majority of Americans.

this just appears to be yet another way the government is trying to not only take my money, through higher costs and maybe even taxes, but a way for the government to justify control over yet another chunk of our economy so you can then use it to generate donations to your party and votes for your party. it is disgusting.

401k's are fine for the vast majority of Americans. Leave them alone.
