Dear Sir or Madam:

I am writing to tell you I am against the "Conflict of Interest Rule—Retirement Investment Advice."

The proposal will probably make it harder for me to find an adviser to help me with my retirement planning. I do not think you are helping the average person saving for retirement. It is just more big government. Do you want me to be completely dependent on a former employer for my retirement?

These advisors are already regulated by federal and state agencies. Enforce existing rules.

I do not like the idea that our president is trying to ram this through with no congressional say on the matter. And in such a short time frame.

Sincerely,
