General Comment

I disagree with your proposed rule to restrict information available about my IRA investments from financial advisers, by redefining the term "fiduciary". I believe this would have a negative impact on my ability to make informed decisions about my IRAs, and negatively affect millions of other middle class Americans trying to make educated choices for their own IRAs.

It is NOT the governments job to decide whats best for my personal retirement accounts, and I do NOT support the Department of Labor's interference in private citizens' freedom to make choices for controlling their own IRAs.
