General Comment

Hello. I am writing on behalf of myself, my wife, and a great number of working Americans to ask that you do not interfere with (or try to "help", "regulate", etc.) the way that our retirement investments are handled. There are far more people outside the government who are qualified to help us determine where and how to invest our hard-earned money than there are inside the government. We are wise enough to either know what we are doing in regards to our retirement or to find reputable guidance in this area. And, even if we were not, the government does not have the constitutional right to interfere with our pay as it is. Thank you for respecting our right to handle retirement savings ourselves.
