Subject: Definition of Fiduciary Proposed Rule -- RIN 1210-AB32

I would like to add my voice to those urging you to stick to your guns on extending fiduciary duty to anyone who advises people on their retirement accounts. The arguments against it range from ridiculous to specious, and the argument for your actions is that consumers deserve to have such a critical set of choices they are asked to make shielded as much as possible from self-serving abuse.
