NWIOA Pay-for-Performance (PFP) contract strategy is a specific type of performance-based contract strategy that places a higher emphasis on performance putcomes and drives better results. In a PFP contract strategy, service providers are paid based on the achievement of specified levels of performance elated to WIOA outcomes, rather than being paid for processes or outputs. Local workforce boards may use up to 10% of their WIOA Adult, WIOA Dislocated Worker, and WIOA Youth funds for adult training services and/or youth activities for PFP contract strategies. Where local workforce boards use PFP contract strategies, funds may be available until expended. This extended availability means that, if outcomes are not achieved as hoped, the funds may be used for inother PFP purpose. States may also use funds from the Governor's Reserve to support PFP. Please describe the framework in use for Pay-for-Performance contracts, including performance targets established, time frames for measuring results against targets, payment schedules, and any actual results or other measured indicators achieved so far. In your narrative, please address: - Target populations covered by contracts - Other populations or baselines used for comparison purposes to determine performance - Indicators of performance, such as: * Employment Rates for the target population in the second and fourth quarters after exiting services * Median earnings for the target population * Credential rates for the target population * Measurable skill gains for the target population * Measurable skill gains for the target population * Effectiveness in serving employers
