General Comment

Clients need a lower cost option for their Financial Services. They need access to a financial advisor on a non-advisory basis and to work with an advisor on a basis that works for them. The DOL ruling makes it so that clients have less access to high quality advice and forces them to large companies and phone call centers that outsource technical advise to specialists at a high dollar price that clients cant afford. It further pushes the reach of high quality advice to the high net worth few. Keep Brokerage and client driven options available to the marketplace. Consumer choice keeps costs down and keeps access to services widely available and at a lower price for all.

I'm writing to express my concerns with the Department of Labor's (DOL) Retirement Security rule proposal. I believe this proposal will harm millions of low- and middle-income households by limiting access to personalized financial guidance and advice.

As a financial professional, I'm already required to act in the best interests of my clients under the SEC's Regulation Best Interest (Reg BI) and, when considering annuities, applicable state laws that impose similar requirements. Together, these regulations ensure that my clients and I can focus on working together to build responsible savings and investments habits.

This proposal has the potential to upend our existing, comprehensive structure by limiting our ability to help our clients safeguard their savings in a manner of their choosing. In particular, the previous iteration of a substantially similar DOL rule resulted in a meaningful reduction in services offered to millions of low- and middle-income households. I am concerned that the resurrection of this rule is expected to exacerbate the racial wealth gap by roughly 20% due to a disproportionate impact on Black and Hispanic communities.

I hope the DOL will consider the harm the previous fiduciary rule had on communities, as well as the changes in securities regulations that came with the adoption of Reg BI and state insurance suitability rules and withdraw the Retirement Security rule proposal.
