General Comment

If the government is seeking to allow white collar criminals to continue with their same crimes even after they are caught, then there is really no justification to keep anyone in jail with crimes of poverty. If this passes, there will be no mercy for this current financial system. Everyone who had a hand in drafting and proposing this rule will eventually come into the light as the financial terrorists they are. Do NOT pass this amendment! If you have but a single ounce of respect for democracy and the ideals of justice and fairness that this country has been continually failing to uphold, you will not pass this.
