General Comment

Regarding any thought on the part of government to assume control/management of my hard earned retirement savings acct, I would only say that I would trust my 8 year-old granddaughter to manage my money before I would ever consider "asking" (if this is what you would call your attempted "take over") the government to handle my finances. Government has a proven track record of FAILING to be fiscally responsible. Only a fool would trust government is trying to give us a better deal than we, individually, have managed to do. Keep your hands off my retirement account!
