General Comment

In order to keep my broker this regulation is forcing me into an Advisory platform. I know how to determine what I'm being charged. I know what I'm paying. I want to have as many choices and options as possible. My choice is being limited after June the 9th, 2017 unless this rule is delayed again. It should be delayed because if changes are made again after June 9th my IRAs could potentially become ping pong balls of reinvestments from new different sets of rules and different accounts.
