Dear U.S. Department of Labor,

As your constituent, I urge you to protect us by opposing this Wagner bill that will allow Wall Street to get its grubby hands on retirement savings. Every time we get a law that puts restraints on Wall Street's unprincipled greed, we get a congressman willing to introduce a bill that erases the restraint.

How about having Congress members release their income tax forms so we can see if money from outside sources influences their decisions?

Sincerely,
Mrs. Carol Godwin
