General Comment

Any attempt to restrict our rights to trade options whether in an IRA or not would be jeopardizing the income of myself and many others. I have studied and learned how options work and am able to generate considerable income in a very safe way. I do not speculate with options. I only sell covered calls and sell naked puts. If you take away any of my ability to trade these options my income will be greatly reduced. I follow advisors that are very conservative and only recommend the safest option trades. Please do not restrict my ability to trade options with on-line brokers.
