General Comment

I have an IRA with an on-line broker. I am      years old and have been involved with the stock market for many years. In my retirement, I have traded options for extra income and to protect positions that I own. This piece of legislation will limit my ability to generate income and reduce my standard of living. I am opposed to the government legislating my life in this way. Please amend this legislation to allow private owners of retirement accounts to trade options, or scrap it altogether.
