General Comment

Stop meddling in my freedom of choice. Do not vote this bill into effect.

I am a sophisticated investor that uses options trading as a way to hedge my stock positions, generate income via selling covered calls (that are strategically calculated), buy high quality stocks at more attractive prices (via selling puts on stock I want to own) and need to retain the ability to do all of this in my retirement account. Its my money and I know what I'm doing.

Please seriously think about the above. Its short but entirely justifies killing this bill and allowing America's investment freedom to continue. Killing this bill also allows investors like me to protect the market from crashes by creating a market for stock transactions by way of the options trades I have described above.

Conversely, passing this bill will kill another small part of the American dream....

Respectfully,
Greg Broussard
