General Comment

I am extremely disappointed by this new proposed protection rule for my IRA. I have taken the time to learn proper options trading in my account and it has been very beneficial for me. They have helped me grow my retirement account safely. Option trades reduce my risk and there are currently more than adequate protections (margin requirements, no short selling calls, downside protection with puts, etc.). Please consider leaving this facet of My IRA as is, people that have no interest in them never use them anyway.

Sincerely yours,
Gregory Hall
