General Comment

When are you people going to get off our backs, we are mature enough to make decisions WITHOUT the government telling us what to do. This regulation is just another government intrusion into the freedom of choice and another way to limit our ability to make additional income based on what you think is right for us. Just look at what the Federal Reserve has been doing for the past 8 years, retired or senior people have been ROBBERED of income because of their decisions on rates, they have only helped the top 1% of the wage earners, just can this resolution and allow anybody the option to make investment decisions. You should all lose your jobs, you really don't know what the hell you are doing, just another way to impose irrational decisions, this is just another way of getting more tax dollars for us, just leave us alone
