General Comment

I wanted to take a moment to beg our Congressmen to stop trying to treat us like children. I can decide for myself exactly how and where to invest my own retirement money. Please note MY retirement, MY money MY choice. I don't need some nousey politician trying to protect me from myself.

While its true tat option trading CAN be risky, it can also serve to REMOVE risk, and increase return. That is exactly how I'm using it in my own IRA. I've been averaging about a 20-35% APR return lately, using options. I'm years old. I don't have time for a 3-5% return to build my nest egg.

If any congressman considering voting for this nanny-state legislation would care to, I'd be happy to sit down with you and walk you through exactly how I safely make 20%+ APR returns, using the figures from my actual IRA account.
