General Comment

I checked your comments page as of 6:35 pm Eastern Standard time and none of the 19 public comments received are currently retrievable. This makes it difficult to write an effective comment if the commenter wishes to include in a comment responses or amplifications of already-received comments. I don't know whether this is a temporary technical problem or simply that the comments have not yet been posted. If the latter, please post as soon possible, certainly before the comments are due.
