

In 2015, The Gambia made a minimal advancement in efforts to eliminate the worst forms of child labor. The Ministry of Education continued the Conditional Cash Transfer initiative that provided subsidies to Koranic teachers, marabouts, to support discontinuing their practice of forcing students to beg in the streets.

The Government continued its support of the country's 15 Child Protection Committees. However, children in The Gambia continue to engage in child labor, including in domestic work and in the worst forms of child labor, including in commercial sexual exploitation, sometimes as a result of human trafficking. Gaps in the law remain, including increasing the compulsory education age to the minimum age for work. In addition, child labor enforcement resources are limited and existing social programs are insufficient to address the scope of the child labor problem.

I. PREVALENCE AND SECTORAL DISTRIBUTION OF CHILD LABOR

Children in The Gambia are engaged in child labor, including in domestic work. Children are also engaged in the worst forms of child labor, including in commercial sexual exploitation, sometimes as a result of human trafficking.(1, 2) Table 1 provides key indicators on children's work and education in The Gambia.

Table 1. Statistics on Children's Work and Education

Children	Age	Percent
Working (% and population)	5-14 yrs.	36.4 (180,954)
Attending School (%)	5-14 yrs.	65.7
Combining Work and School (%)	7-14 yrs.	29.6
Primary Completion Rate (%)		67.3

Source for all other data: Understanding Children's Work Project's analysis of statistics from MICS3 Survey, 2005–2006.(4)

Based on a review of available information, Table 2 provides an overview of children's work by sector and activity.

Table 2. Overview of Children's Work by Sector and Activity

Sector/Industry	Activity
Agriculture	Farming, including protecting crops by chasing animals* (1, 5)
Industry	Working in carpentry,* masonry,* sewing,* plumbing,* and in metal welding workshops*† (1, 6)
Services	Domestic work* (1, 6)

	Forced begging by Koranic teachers (1, 2, 5)
	Forced labor in domestic work* and street vending,* each sometimes as a result of human trafficking (1, 2)

* Evidence of this activity is limited and/or the extent of the problem is unknown.

† Determined by national law or regulation as hazardous and, as such, relevant to Article 3(d) of ILO C. 182.

‡ Child labor understood as the worst forms of child labor per se under Article 3(a)–(c) of ILO C. 182.

In The Gambia, children are internally trafficked and subjected to commercial sexual exploitation, forced labor, and domestic work. Girls and boys from West African countries, including Senegal, Sierra Leone, Liberia, Ghana, Nigeria, Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, and Benin are trafficked for commercial sexual exploitation in The Gambia.(2) European tourists also subject children to commercial sexual exploitation in brothels and motels in tourist areas.(2, 6, 9, 10) It appears the Government has not conducted research to determine the activities carried out by children, including in agriculture and domestic work, to inform policies and social programs. Reports indicate that in The Gambia it is a common practice to send boys to receive education from Koranic teachers, marabouts, and some Koranic students, almudus, are forced by their teachers to beg in the streets for money and food.(2, 6, 11) Some marabouts also force students to sell items on the street and in rural areas, and some almudus work in agriculture for long hours. (6)

Article 30 of the Constitution mandates free compulsory education; however, families are often required to buy books and uniforms for their children and contribute to the school fund, which is used to pay for school activities.(12, 14, 15) A report indicates a cultural preference to educate boys, which may cause girls to be more vulnerable to the worst forms of child labor. To address this issue, the Government has waived school fees for girls.(11, 12)

II. LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR THE WORST FORMS OF CHILD LABOR

The Gambia has ratified most key international conventions concerning child labor (Table 3).

The Government has established laws and regulations related to child labor, including its worst forms (Table 4).

In The Gambia, children are required to attend school only until the age of 12, at which point they are permitted under Section 51 of the Children’s Act to work as an apprentice in the informal sector. This standard makes children ages 13 to 15 that are not engaged in apprenticeships in the informal sector particularly vulnerable to the worst forms of child labor because they are not required to be in school, but also are not legally permitted to work.(12, 15, 21) Section 43 of the Children’s Act, however, permits children at age 16 to do light work, meaning work that does not jeopardize the health or safety of the child and does not interfere with school attendance.(16) In November 2014, President Jammeh declared the Government would impose the death penalty for the crime of raping a child, effective September 2015.(22)

III. ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS ON THE WORST FORMS OF CHILD LABOR

The Government has established institutional mechanisms for the enforcement of laws and regulations on child labor, including its worst forms (Table 5).

Table 5. Agencies Responsible for Child Labor Law Enforcement

Organization/Agency	Role
Department of Social Welfare (DSW)	Combat forced child labor and coordinate the handling of trafficking victims, working closely with social welfare officers in police units.(6, 13) Monitor, through the operation of five Neighborhood Watch Groups, suspected cases of child abuse or child commercial sexual exploitation in urban areas near tourist sites. Operate a 24-hour hotline to address human trafficking and maintain a database of individuals suspected of pedophilia or child trafficking, in collaboration with The Gambia Tourism Board.(9, 23) Maintain an electronic database that contains information on cases related to child protection, including those involving labor and human trafficking violations.(9, 23)
Child Protection Alliance (CPA)	Promote children’s rights and child protection services. Raise awareness about child exploitation.(24-26) Include Government departments, civil society organizations, UN agencies, NGOs, child and youth organizations, and bilateral institutions.(25).
National Agency Against Trafficking in Persons (NAATIP)	Investigate suspected cases of trafficking, including child trafficking. Agency includes investigators, police, members of the National Intelligence Agency, and five prosecutors.(27) Gather evidence for NAATIP Director, who can recommend that the NAATIP prosecutor file charges for trafficking violations.(27)
The Gambia Tourism Board	Combat commercial sexual exploitation of children in tourist areas.(6) Maintain a database of individuals suspected of pedophilia or child trafficking, in collaboration with the DSW.(9, 28)
Tourism Security Unit	Prevent unaccompanied children from entering tourist areas and patrol tourist areas for child labor and criminal violations, such as commercial sexual exploitation and human trafficking. Has a dedicated child protection division.(6, 13, 28)
Gambia Police Force Child Welfare Unit	Oversee all situations involving children’s welfare.(26) Work with the CPA, DSW, and other agencies and NGOs to assess and identify children engaged in the worst forms of child labor.(7)
Child Protection Committees	Raise awareness and report cases of labor issues, including child labor, to the authorities. DSW operates 15 Child Protection Committees in the country.(1, 7, 13, 29)
Neighborhood Watch Groups	Monitor neighborhoods for child exploitation. Five existing groups established by DSW in urban areas near tourist resorts.(13) Provides members with allowances and cell phone credit.(13)

Labor Law Enforcement

In 2015, labor law enforcement agencies in The Gambia took actions to combat child labor, including its worst forms (Table 6).

According to the ILO recommendation of one inspector for every 40,000 workers in less-developed economies, The Gambia should employ about 19 inspectors to adequately enforce labor laws.(30-32) A source also indicates that inadequate transportation and a lack of fuel presented a challenge for inspectors to carry out their duties.(1, 6) Children found during labor inspections are referred to the Department of Social Welfare (DSW).(13)

Criminal Law Enforcement

In 2015, criminal law enforcement agencies in The Gambia took actions to combat the worst forms of child labor (Table 7).

IV. COORDINATION OF GOVERNMENT EFFORTS ON THE WORST FORMS OF CHILD LABOR

The Government has established mechanisms to coordinate its efforts to address child labor, including its worst forms (Table 8).

Table 8. Mechanisms to Coordinate Government Efforts on Child Labor

Coordinating Body	Role & Description
Department of Social Welfare (DSW)	Coordinate Government efforts to combat the worst forms of child labor. Headed by a Director and assisted by social welfare officers.(6)
National Agency Against Trafficking in Persons	Coordinate, administer, and monitor the implementation of the Trafficking in Persons Act and share information among law enforcement agencies. Convene monthly meetings of the National TIP Taskforce.(6, 13, 28)

In 2015, the annual budget of $33,000 for the National Agency Against Trafficking in Persons (NAATIP) covered salaries and administrative costs, but ad hoc allocations were occasionally received from the central Government. NAATIP also had additional funding for training its personnel and law enforcement officials.(1, 6, 26) NAATIP is developing a database to monitor human trafficking and hired a data officer to gather and compile information from all organizations involved in anti-trafficking efforts; however, information has not been released.(6)

V. GOVERNMENT POLICIES ON THE WORST FORMS OF CHILD LABOR

The Government of The Gambia has established policies related to child labor, including its worst forms (Table 9).

Table 9. Policies Related to Child Labor

Policy	Description
Code of Conduct of the Gambia Tourism Authority for the Protection of Children	Raises awareness of commercial sexual exploitation of children in the tourism industry and among tourists.(6, 33) At the beginning of peak tourism season annually, new hotel staff are trained on the Code.(6)
National Trafficking In Persons Action Plan (2012–2016)	Establishes a plan to combat human trafficking; initially drafted by the Ministry of Justice and recently updated by NAATIP, which is responsible for implementation.(13)
Program for Accelerated Growth and Employment (2012–2015)	Promotes improved social protection for children and access to education and to prevent child labor, including its worst forms.(7, 34)
United Nations Development Assistance Framework (2012–2016)	Encourages improved access to education and develops child labor policies.(35)
Trafficking Memorandum of Understanding (MOU)	Coordinates efforts to address human trafficking in The Gambia and Senegal through information sharing, improved laws, and prevention, protection, and assistance activities. Aims to develop a National Social Protection Policy and Operational Plan.(36) The MOU, signed in December 2013, includes the participation of six UN agencies.(13, 36)
Education Policy* (2004–2015)	Outlines goals to expand school infrastructure, increase school enrollment, and improve the quality of education.(37)

* Child labor elimination and prevention strategies do not appear to have been integrated into this policy.

In 2015, The Government was in the process of developing a National Children’s Policy and a National Plan of Action to Combat Sexual Exploitation of Children to follow the 2004 Plan; however, neither plan was approved.(7) Likewise, research found no evidence of a newly approved Education Policy. Although the Government of The Gambia has adopted the Trafficking MOU, research found no evidence of a policy on other worst forms of child labor.

VI. SOCIAL PROGRAMS TO ADDRESS CHILD LABOR

In 2015, the Government of The Gambia funded and participated in programs that include the goal of eliminating or preventing child labor, including its worst forms (Table 10).

Table 10. Social Programs to Address Child Labor

Program	Description
Combating Child Sex Tourism Project	CPA project, funded by ECPAT Netherlands, that raises awareness about commercial sexual exploitation of children and Tourism Offences Act among Tourism Security Unit personnel, hoteliers, travel agencies, and other tourism stakeholders. Provides Tourism Security Unit personnel with the Code of Conduct of the Gambia Tourism Authority for the Protection of Children.(1, 38)
Street Children Centert	DSW, with support from international organizations, foreign NGOs, and local businesses, run a drop-in center in Talinding Kunjang that provides medical care, food, and counseling to street children, including human trafficking victims and almodus.(6, 13, 28, 29) Tries to prevent children from returning to begging.(11, 39)
Conditional Cash Transfers to the Majaalist	Ministry of Education program gives marabouts food rations and approximately $2.56 monthly for each student if the marabouts do not force students to beg.(13) Provides teachers for English, mathematics, and science to Koranic schools. The Government reports that more than 1,000 children are benefiting from the program and plans to expand the program into more rural areas.(1, 6, 40)
Shelter for Trafficking Victims	DSW, with support from international organizations, foreign NGOs, and local businesses, operate a 24-hour shelter in Bakoteh for victims of human trafficking, including children. Accommodates 48 people and provides guests with food, medical care, and counseling.(13) Provided services to over 1,000 children since opening in 2006.(1, 13)
One-Stop Center	DSW center, with the support of NGO partners, opened in 2013, provides medical care, counseling, and legal services to victims of human trafficking and gender-based violence.(13)
Family Assistance Hotline†	DSW 24-hour hotline staffed with social welfare officers for trafficking victims.(1, 13)

† Program is funded by the Government of The Gambia.

Gambia, The

MINIMAL ADVANCEMENT

Although The Gambia has programs that target child labor, the scope of these programs is insufficient to fully address the extent of the problem and to reach all children vulnerable to human trafficking, commercial sexual exploitation, and street work. Existing programs do not target children working in agriculture and domestic work, where children are found working.

VII. SUGGESTED GOVERNMENT ACTIONS TO ELIMINATE THE WORST FORMS OF CHILD LABOR

Based on the reporting above, suggested actions are identified that would advance the elimination of child labor, including its worst forms, in The Gambia (Table 11).

Table 11. Suggested Government Actions to Eliminate Child Labor, Including its Worst Forms

Data provided is the gross intake ratio to the last grade of primary school. This measure is a proxy measure for primary completion. This ratio is the total number of new entrants in the last grade of primary education, regardless of age, expressed as a percentage of the population at the theoretical entrance age to the last grade of primary. A high ratio indicates a high degree of current primary education completion. Because the calculation includes all new entrants to last grade (regardless of age), the ratio can exceed 100 percent, due to over-aged and under-aged children who enter primary school late/early and/or repeat grades.
