

In 2018, Panama made a moderate advancement in efforts to eliminate the worst forms of child labor. The government drafted modifications to its hazardous work regulations, significantly increased its number of labor inspectors, and established a Regional Headquarters in Coclé to target child labor in areas outside the capital city. It also launched a national initiative to prevent violence against children, which includes the goal of eliminating child labor, and conducted a new study on child work, child labor, and the worst forms of child labor. However, children in Panama engage in the worst forms of child labor, including in commercial sexual exploitation, sometimes as a result of human trafficking. Children also perform dangerous tasks in agriculture. Although the government made meaningful efforts in all relevant areas, Panamanian law allows minors under age 16 to engage in hazardous work within training establishments, in violation of international standards. Moreover, the Labor Inspectorate lacks the authority to collect fines for labor violations, limiting its capacity to enforce laws on the worst forms of child labor.

I. PREVALENCE AND SECTORAL DISTRIBUTION OF CHILD LABOR

Children in Panama engage in the worst forms of child labor, including in commercial sexual exploitation, sometimes as a result of human trafficking. Children also perform dangerous tasks in agriculture. (1-10) The Ministry of Labor (MITRADEL) conducted a study on child work, child labor, and the worst forms of child labor in 2018, but the results have yet to be published. (1) Table I provides key indicators on children's work and education in Panama.

‡ Child labor understood as the worst forms of child labor per se under Article 3(a)–(c) of ILO C. 182.

Children in Panama are subjected to commercial sexual exploitation, mainly in tourist areas in Panama City and in beach communities. (6,7) In 2018, cases of forced labor involving indigenous, minor females from rural, poor border areas were reported, including for forced domestic service. (10)

According to the results of Panama’s 2016 survey on child labor, the highest prevalence of child labor is in rural areas and autonomous indigenous areas, or comarcas. The comarca Ngäbe Buglé and the provinces of Panama and Bocas del Toro had the highest number of children engaged in child labor. (2)

Although the Panamanian Constitution recognizes the right to education without discrimination, indigenous children and those in rural and Afro-Panamanian communities face barriers to accessing education due to a lack of transportation, infrastructure, technology, and teachers, particularly in the comarcas. (1,5,9,33-35) Children of indigenous descent often travel significant distances to reach school and experience frequent interruptions in their education due to family migration to work in agriculture. (6,34,35)

II. LEGAL FRAMEWORK FOR CHILD LABOR

Panama has ratified all key international conventions concerning child labor (Table 3).

The government has established laws and regulations related to child labor (Table 4). However, gaps exist in Panama’s legal framework to adequately protect children from the worst forms of child labor, including hazardous work and light work.

In 2018 and early 2019, MITRADEL drafted amendments to Decree Number 1 of 2016 to raise the minimum age for hazardous work, occupations, and activities to age 16 if the work is performed in a training facility, and to eliminate certain work exceptions for children ages 14 to 16. (1,45) Currently, Panama has a list of hazardous occupations prohibited for children under age 18 but it permits to perform such work in training programs starting at age 14, in violation of international standards. (41)

Although the Constitution, Family Code, and Labor Code set the minimum age for employment at age 14, the Family Code and Labor Code specify exceptions for domestic and agricultural work. (36-38) Article 716 of the Family Code permits children ages 12 to 14 to perform domestic and agricultural work as regulated by the Labor Code. (37) Article 119 of the Labor Code allows children ages 12 to 15 to perform light work in agriculture, if the work is outside regular school hours, and Article 123 allows children over the age of 12 to perform light domestic work. The Labor Code, however, does not define the kinds of tasks children may perform as light work or the total number of hours they may work. (38)

III. ENFORCEMENT OF LAWS ON CHILD LABOR

The government has established institutional mechanisms for the enforcement of laws and regulations on child labor (Table 5). However, gaps exist within the operations of MITRADEL that may hinder adequate enforcement of child labor laws.

Table 5. Agencies Responsible for Child Labor Law Enforcement

Organization/Agency	Role
Ministry of Labor (MITRADEL)	Enforces child labor laws through two directorates with direct authority over child labor matters: the Directorate Against Child Labor and for the Protection of Adolescent Workers (DIRETIPPAT), and the Labor Inspection Directorate. (46) The Labor Inspection Directorate enforces the Labor Code in areas in which children may be working, particularly in the formal sector. DIRETIPPAT is responsible for overseeing the enforcement of laws related to working children in the formal and informal sectors, planning and executing public policies, and carrying out education programs on child labor for employers, parents, and children. (46-49) Refers cases of children found in exploitative work to the Child and Adolescent Courts, or to the National Secretariat for Childhood, Adolescence, and Family (SENNIAF). (46)

(4) Monitors and coordinates a network of government services to address needs of vulnerable populations. (27,46) Runs shelters for victims of human trafficking, including minors. (51)
Childhood and Adolescence Police	Assists, collaborates with, and coordinates with authorities and organizations to address the education, prevention, protection, and rehabilitation of children, including those in child labor. (52,53) Supports SENNI AF inspections in areas with high rates of child labor. (27)

Labor Law Enforcement

In 2018, labor law enforcement agencies in Panama took actions to combat child labor (Table 6). However, gaps exist within the authority of MITRADEL that may hinder adequate labor law enforcement, including insufficient funding for operations.

In 2018, Panama increased its number of labor inspectors and is now in line with the ILO's technical advice. However, only six inspectors received specialized training in child labor investigations, even though all inspectors must investigate and enforce child labor laws. (1) MITRADEL identified 492 cases of adolescent and child labor, primarily in the agriculture and informal sectors, and provided education scholarships and integrated care to 1,502 minors through its Direct Action social program targeting children in at-risk communities. (1,54) The labor inspectorate conducted inspections across all 14 provinces in the agriculture, fishing, construction, and tourism industries as well as at street vending sites; 938 of these inspections were child labor related. MITRADEL officials encountered 14 child labor violations, and the Judicial Secretariat found 6 violations and will collect a total of $4,000 in penalties. (1)

MITRADEL and the National Secretariat for Childhood, Adolescence, and Family (SENNIAF) have implemented a secure 311 Complaint Line, as well as a website and social media platforms, to receive complaints. In 2018, SENNI AF responded to 34 complaints received through these services and initiated 1 investigation into child labor in the informal sector. (1) In addition, 30 SENNI AF staff members received training on child labor laws in 2018. (1)

MITRADEL has noted that the budget for the Directorate Against Child Labor and for the Protection of Adolescent Workers was insufficient to meet its commitments for coordination, implementation, and monitoring. In addition, its budget decreased from 2017 to 2018. (1,34,55,56) Civil society groups have stated that labor inspections in Panama focus primarily on the formal sector, leaving children in the informal sector vulnerable. (7,57) Moreover, unannounced labor inspections are not conducted in agricultural areas outside Panama City or in private farms or homes. (1,6)

Criminal Law Enforcement

In 2018, criminal law enforcement agencies in Panama took actions to combat child labor (Table 7). However, the government did not provide sufficient data on its criminal enforcement efforts, which limits the ability to assess the adequacy of criminal law enforcement agencies.

Table 7. Criminal Law Enforcement Efforts Related to Child Labor

The Government of Panama conducted 34 forced labor or sex trafficking investigations in 2018. Notably, two of those cases involved the rescue of two indigenous minors from forced labor situations. (10)

Child labor training was provided to 47 National Commission for the Prevention of Crimes of Sexual Exploitation (CONAPREDES) staff, as well as to 105 law enforcement officials, 55 prosecutors, and 21 members of the Maritime and Tourism Authorities. (1) Furthermore, in September 2018, the Trafficking in Persons Commission participated in an interagency event to combat sexual exploitation that was carried out by CONAPREDES and targeted school-age children in Panama. (10)

IV. COORDINATION OF GOVERNMENT EFFORTS ON CHILD LABOR

The government has established mechanisms to coordinate its efforts to address child labor (Table 8). However, gaps exist that hinder the effective coordination of efforts to address child labor, including coordination among agencies.

Table 8. Key Mechanisms to Coordinate Government Efforts on Child Labor

Coordinating Body	Role & Description
Committee for the Eradication of Child Labor and the Protection of Adolescent Workers (CETIPPAT)	Coordinates various efforts to combat child labor. Led by the First Lady of Panama and includes MITRADEL, the Ministries of Education, Health, and Agriculture, and representatives from civil society and organizations of workers and employers. (59) Conducts a National Child Labor Survey every 2 years. (6) In 2018, CETIPPAT held 8 coordinating meetings with more than 22 representatives from the private sector, labor, NGOs, and government agencies. The meetings focused on child labor trends and reduction strategies. (1)
Subcommittee to Combat Child Labor	Coordinates the Panamanian Institute for Sports and the Ministry of Education in their efforts to address child labor and its causes. Subcommittee of CETIPPAT. (7,34,49,60) In 2018, the subcommittees were located in Chiriqui, Veraguas, Herrera, Los Santos, Coclé, and Panama Oeste. (1)
Provincial Coordination Mechanisms	Identifies and reports cases of child labor at the local level and coordinates with CETIPPAT at the national level. Established in Bocas del Toro, Colón, and Darién, the commissions as of 2018 are now also located in Panama City, Panama Oeste, Coclé, Veraguas, Herrera, and Los Santos. (1,9)

(59) Members include the Attorney General as well as the Ministries of Labor, Education, Social Development, and Health. Refers cases of sexual exploitation to the Attorney General's Office. (59) In 2018, investigated and discovered 153 children who were used in pornography. (1)

MITRADEL has noted the need for increased coordination on efforts to address child labor, including within the Ministry of Labor, and with social service agencies and referral mechanisms. (34)

V. GOVERNMENT POLICIES ON CHILD LABOR

The government has established policies related to child labor (Table 9). However, child labor elimination and prevention strategies do not appear to have been integrated into relevant policies.

Table 9. Key Policies Related to Child Labor

Policy	Description
Roadmap Towards the Elimination of Child Labor (2016–2019)	Aims to eliminate all forms of child labor in Panama by 2020 by strengthening anti-poverty, health, and educational programs and policies. (61-63) As part of the Roadmap, in 2018, the Panamanian Government expanded labor inspector trainings, unannounced inspections, and monitoring information systems. The government also expanded investigations to the Colon, Panama Oeste and San Miguelito districts and opened a Cocolé Regional Headquarters to target child labor in provinces and districts outside the capital. (1)
National Multisectoral Strategy for the Prevention of Violence against children and Adolescents, (2018–2022)†	Launched in 2018, the strategy aims to eliminate child labor and end the mistreatment, exploitation, trafficking, violence, and torture of children. The strategy was developed by the National Government through the National Intersectoral Committee for the Prevention of Violence against Children and Adolescents and SENNIAF, with technical support from UNICEF. (64,65)
National Action Plan for the Prevention and Elimination of Commercial Sexual Exploitation of Children and Adolescents	Aims to prevent and eliminate the commercial sexual exploitation of children and adolescents, including by providing services to victims, strengthening CONAPREDES, and raising awareness. Implemented by CONAPREDES, with support from the Public Ministry. (46,59,66) On November 27, 2018, CONAPREDES held a training for 25 Guatemalan officials on “Preventing child and adolescent sexual exploitation crimes” as part of the Action Plan. (67)
National Plan Against Trafficking in Persons (2012–2022)	Aims to combat human trafficking through prevention, victim assistance, and international cooperation. Includes provisions to protect child victims of human trafficking. (58,68) As part of the plan in 2018, the Government of Panama approved the Protocol for the Victim's Identification and Protection Unit to provide standard procedures to the Trafficking in Persons Commission Victim's Unit and to guarantee adequate standard of care for human trafficking victims. The Trafficking in Persons Commission also developed a training manual for members of the Victim's Identification and Protection Unit. (10)
Districts Free of Child Labor	Aims to establish cooperation agreements between MITRADEL and municipal councils to design and implement child labor eradication strategies. (9) In 2018 MITRADEL signed anti-child labor agreements with the municipalities of Copira, San Miguelito, Panama, Tonosi, Aguadulce, and Santiago. (1)

† Policy was approved during the reporting period.

The Coordination Agreement on Labor Migration between the Ministries of Labor of Costa Rica and Panama aims to strengthen dialogue on labor migration between the two countries, with an emphasis on indigenous Panamanian migrant workers, to ensure social protection of migrant workers and their families. The policy includes a bilateral technical committee to promote joint action to combat human trafficking, exchange information, and develop cooperative strategies and projects. (69) Although potentially a useful policy tool to combat child labor, child labor elimination and prevention strategies do not appear to have been integrated into this policy.

VI. SOCIAL PROGRAMS TO ADDRESS CHILD LABOR

In 2018, the government funded and participated in programs that include the goal of eliminating or preventing child labor (Table 10). However, gaps exist in these social programs, including their ability to reach the most vulnerable populations.

Table 10. Key Social Programs to Address Child Labor

Program	Description
USDOL-Funded Projects	USDOL projects that aim to eliminate child labor, including its worst forms, through research, improved monitoring and enforcement, policy development, and awareness raising. These projects include Educafuturo: Combating Child Labor; a $8.1 million, 5-year project implemented in Ecuador and Panama by Partners of the Americas; Building Effective Policies Against Child Labor; a $4.3 million, 5-year project implemented in Ecuador and Panama by ILO; Country Level Engagement and Assistance To Reduce Child Labor (CLEAR II), implemented by Winrock International and partners Verité and Lawyers Without Borders in seven countries; and Measurement, Awareness-Raising, and Policy Engagement (MAP 16), a $22.4 million, 6-year project implemented by ILO in several countries. (70-74) In 2018, ILO completed its study of the Panama sugar industry and held a verification workshop in November prior to publishing its findings. (75) Additional information is available on the USDOL website.
Direct Government Action Program for the Prevention and Eradication of Child Labor†	MITRADEL program implemented through the Institute for Training and Utilization of Human Resources that provides a network of social and economic services to child workers and children at risk of child labor. Services include provision of food and scholarships, support for sports activities, and social monitoring. (7,76) Under the Direct Government Action Program for the Prevention and Eradication of Child Labor, in 2018 MITRADEL conducted unannounced visits in the informal sector, investigated key risk factors that lead children to work before the legal age of employment, and informed indigenous communities about the negative consequences of child labor. (1)
Prevention and Eradication of Child Labor†	SENNIAF program that identifies children engaged in the worst forms of child labor, removes them from exploitative situations, and connects them to a network of social and economic services offered by the government. (27) In 2018, SENNI AF hosted forums in educational centers, provided study grants to 1,502 children, and conducted home wellness visits to verify that students were attending school. SENNI AF also developed a new case processing system to efficiently manage reports that reduced reporting processing times. (1)
National Council of Private Businesses Corporate Social Responsibility Program	Joint effort created by MITRADEL and the National Council of Private Businesses that involves a partnership with businesses across Panama to sign the Voluntary Agreement of Corporate Social Responsibility to prevent and eradicate child labor. (77) Research was unable to identify activities undertaken during the reporting period to implement the partnership.
Prevention and Care for Child and Adolescent Victims of Sexual Violence†	SENNIAF program that identifies children engaged in commercial sexual exploitation, removes them from exploitative situations, and provides them with social services. Conducts training workshops nationwide for professionals providing direct care to child and adolescent victims of sexual violence. (79) Research was unable to identify specific actions undertaken during the reporting period under this program.
Network of Opportunities†	Ministry of Social Development (MIDES) program that provides conditional cash transfers to families in extreme poverty, conditioned on their children's participation in health and education services and the acquisition of a birth certificate. Offers training to project participants to improve income-generating opportunities. (80) In 2018, MIDES reported that the program paid $6,852,000 in conditional cash transfers to 45,495 individuals. (81)

† Program is funded by the Government of Panama.

Although Panama has expanded programs that reach children in rural areas and from indigenous and Afro-Panamanian communities, various reports indicate that the scope of these programs is insufficient, and these children remain vulnerable to the worst forms of child labor. (33,82,83)

Despite policy efforts, the National Anti-Trafficking Commission acknowledges that funding for and availability of services for human trafficking victims remains insufficient to address the full scope of the problem. (10) Furthermore, although child victims of trafficking are able to receive services from local NGOs, Panama lacks programs to specifically address the needs of this population. (10) Government officials have also noted that despite funds dedicated to the prevention of crimes against children, Panama lacks a specific mechanism to direct funds toward child sexual abuse victims. (84,85)

VII. SUGGESTED GOVERNMENT ACTIONS TO ELIMINATE CHILD LABOR

Based on the reporting above, suggested actions are identified that would advance the elimination of child labor in Panama (Table 11).
